

Building your Anderson Shelter

Last week you explored which materials would be best to construct your Anderson shelter out of. Hopefully you've been collecting bits and pieces over the past couple of weeks and you can have a go at constructing one this afternoon.

If you haven't, don't worry. I've uploaded a template that you can cut out and stick together. You might want to stick the pieces on card first for strength. Remember to only use scissors with your parents permission and supervision.

If you have a camera then please take pictures of the different stages that you have gone through with your construction and don't forget to tweet and send in pictures of your work.

I've put the example pictures on the next slide again to support you.

HAVE FUN!
